

Conversations that Build Community
A Big Table Pittsburgh Event

Around the Table South 2020

Every Voice Counts

Around the Table South is a community-building initiative that engaged more than 1,000 voices in over 100 table conversations during its inaugural launch in Fall 2018. Around the Table South is back in 2020, inviting residents in the South Hills and Mon Valley—to gather over mealtime conversations to build connections and explore how we can work together to make our communities stronger.

Now Partnering with Leadership Pittsburgh's Big Table Pittsburgh Event!

Where?

The conversations take place in person in places that make it easy to gather—like libraries, churches, restaurants, workplaces and even around your kitchen table. Wherever you can talk for about 90 minutes, enjoy a meal, and brainstorm with a group of 8-12 people.

Who?

Everyone - every voice counts! People from all walks of life who live or work in the South Hills and Mon Valley communities are encouraged to host and attend Around the Table South conversations.

Why?

The Jefferson Regional Foundation and the Jefferson Community Collaborative are partnering with Leadership Pittsburgh's Big Table Event, which also launches on March 18th, to unite people from across our region and the Greater Pittsburgh area to explore how we can work together to strengthen our communities and make people's lives better.

When we meet face-to-face to connect with other community members, share ideas, and discuss community ideas and solutions, powerful things can happen. Results from the conversations will be collected, compiled and shared with the community. In addition to sharing results, Jefferson Regional Foundation is pleased to offer Ideas from the Table Mini-Grant opportunities to encourage local community action.
